A Day in the Life.....

What do we do day in and day out? We read, we absorb information, and we try our best to make it all mean something to our lives. Who knows if it ever really will.

Perhaps in twenty years when you pull this book out of a cardboard box full of old Religion papers you were sure you would want later and Spring Formal pictures you will have forgotten just what your days were like at George Fox University. The L'Ami staff strived to remedy that with this collection of people and activities that made up each of the days you spent here.

A day is only twenty-four fleeting hours but, when placed side by side, they become the building blocks of each George Fox student's life and what inevitably made the University. As the campus watched the days of Dr. Edward Stevens diminish, a new importance was placed on each moment we spent here. Will we have done as much?

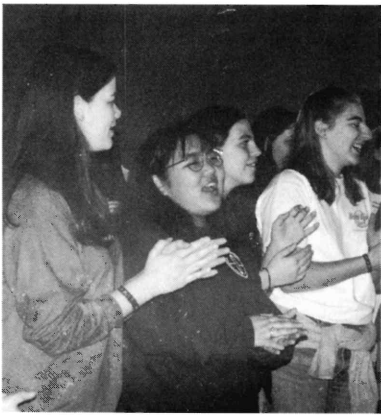

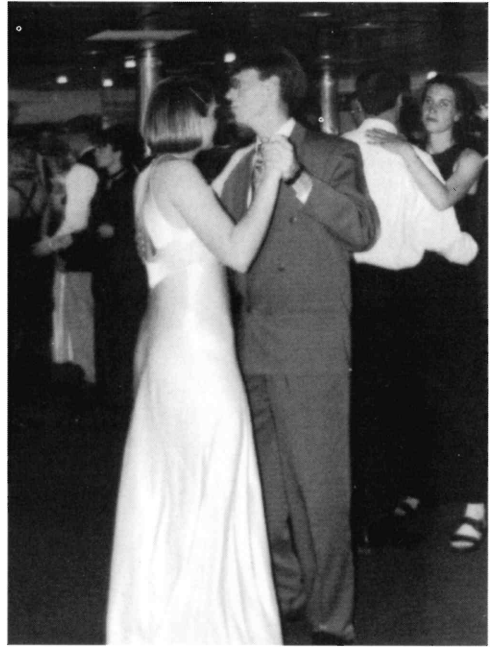

Will we have done enough?

So, with the buzz of the alarm clock we remove ourselves from the comfort of our beds, induce alertness with a jolt of caffeine and proceed to create our life at George Fox...Day by Day.

We are busy students leading busy lives. But we manage to make time for Friday night movies, Sunday night Over the Edge, and daily useless conversation.

We need the escape, we need the relaxation. Or do we just like to goof around?

In any case, we have fun, grow closer together, make fools of ourselves all with up-turned lips.

What an eye-opening experience. Venturing out of the safety of our homes into the world of responsible adults. Some travel a few miles, others thousands. This is college and the experience that comes with it. And what an experience it is. Freshman and transfers alike found it a challenge to get acquainted and adjust to the chaos bound to occur when hundreds of young people get together to try to learn. The freshmen experience at Fox is a lot different than the experiences offered at other schools. People are nice and welcoming, there is no segregation between the classes. Cami Schlott commented,

“The activities were the best. They were a lot of fun and enabled people to meet each other.” This is one of the beautiful things offered here at Fox--the welcome that you receive when your feet first hit the ground of the college experience.

Weeks were set aside to celebrate various areas of interest on campus.

A growing interest in health and fitness prompted a Health Fair in which students could learn about healthy food choices, have their blood pressure taken and give blood. The Multi-Cultural Week was filled with ethnic food served in Marriott, authentic Hispanic dancing, and cultural movies.

The Art Department sponsored a week of Art Celebration.

Art students drew, painted, and sculpted in the Wood-

New leadership creates change; change brings along with it an abundance of learning experiences. According to the members of student leadership, God has played a big part in the changes and the learning they encountered. Members of Central Committee were President Ben Zimmerman, Vice President Carmen Guerricagoitia, Secretary Darren Finnecy, Treasurer Michael Hampton, Student Chaplain Keith Johnson, Activities Director Jeff Bailey, Christian Services Director Esther Sherrard, Director of Communications Cary Wadlow, and Supreme Court Justice Rachel Dressler. Growing played a major part in the lives of the central committee members. "God has used this year to stretch, challenge and inspire me," said Johnson. "Grace is essential when working with people," reflected ASC president Zimmerman.

The Communication Department, comprised of KFOX, The Crescent, The L'Ami, and the darkroom, underwent some tremendous changes during the year. Responding to student's complaints that KFOX could not be heard across the canyon, KFOX purchased a new 1610 30 Watt antenna.

"We really tried to incorporate KFOX back into the hands of the student body," said Program Manager Seth Himes. The Crescent changed to a four-page format to "utilize our limited resources," said Managing Editor Lana Kirby.

The L'Ami staff made a bold step away from tradition and decided to make the cover red. "We realize that Linfield and Willamette both use red in their school colors, however, we felt we needed a change from navy blue," said Assistant Editor Celeste Shults.

The dark-

room staff took on the responsibility of supplying pictures to ASC to help promote campus activities. "None of us are professional photographers, we just love doing it," said Darkroom Manager Andrea Adamson.

A Servant's Heart

The opportunity to spend a portion of Christmas break or the entire spring break on a serve trip is one that is never forgotten. Students are given the chance to serve people in need and gain much more in return. Serve trip coordinator Angela Box said, "We had more people go on these trips than ever before. We had brand new trips never done before to New York and Vancouver B.C."

By participating, George Fox students got to visit several different cities and use their time and talents to serve those in need. Tasks included everything from serving meals at shelters to sorting clothes, to building a house for a family. The work that serve trip participants did was extremely beneficial and it was definitely an experience that will last a lifetime.

Senior Services ●

Many opportunities were offered this year for students to provide service to our community.

The Little Bruin program gave George Fox students an avenue by which to provide mentorship to local students. Students visit their Little Bruin once a week and spend time getting to know one another.

George Fox mentors have the opportunity to impact student's life in a positive way. Melanie Young said, "Being a mentor gave me a chance to have a part in the community and I had a lot of fun developing a relationship with my Little Bruin."

Every Friday eight students went to downtown Portland to serve the homeless and pray for the city. The Urban Services committee was in charge of Street Ministries as well as working on a gang prevention center. When asked about her experience participating in Street Ministries, Cami Schlott was quoted as saying, "I enjoyed participating in something that does a service to God where I can talk to the people, and pray for the city. It was cool."

Senior Services provided a chance for George Fox students to get involved in the lives of senior citizens in our community. This ministry allowed students to get involved in the lives of seniors.

This year started off well with numerous activities for the students of George Fox. Sophomore Sarah Lawrence remarked, "The Jennifer Knapp concert was an amazing start to the years' activities." Activities such as the Beach Bash and a number of concerts featuring artists such as Jaci Velasquez, Clay Crosse, Skillet, and Soul Food 76 gave students a chance to get reacquainted and meet new people. Other activities included the 3-D movie, "Creature from the Black Lagoon" shown out on the clock tower lawn and the 70's dance. Alcohol Awareness Week was held later in the fall and included activities such as the mocktail party and a showing of the movie "When a Man Loves a Woman." "Alcohol Awareness Week was creative and informative," said freshman Jessica Schurte. Regardless of which activities they chose, the fall activities gave the students at George Fox a fun and exciting way to start the year.

Tree Decorating • Vacation•

Perhaps the biggest change in winter activities history was moving the Christmas Celebration from the gymnasium into the Student Union Building. The Christmas Celebration budget was cut this year which caused a few Celebration favorites to be downsized. Instead of every dorm floor having a tree to decorate, each class received a tree for the decorating contest. In the SUB there was hat-decorating, cookie-decorating, face-painting and group pictures with Santa. The Players and Dayspring both gave performances. The Christmas Vespers Service was also the same night as well as the outdoor candlelighting ceremony.

Another part of the winter activities was a Christmas pajama party. The party was a fund-raiser which benefitted the winter serve trips. Students were invited to put on their pajamas and go to the Commons where they sang carols and Irv Brendlinger read fireside Christmas stories.

The excitement of Spring! The flowers start to bloom, the days become longer and the students release their suppressed energy. This energy was allowed release at various activities around campus. Between the ice cream social, the spring retreat, the formal, the lip sync, theatre games and the talent show there was something to do almost every weekend. Darren Weidman thought that the talent show was "swell" and was thankful for the applause that he, Andrew Fodge, and the monkey got after their number. Theatre games has proven to be an event not just a game. It allows the participants to be crazy and wild. The winning team was comprised of Jeff Simons, Rebecca Crover, Heidi Oester, and Katie Putignano. Spring

"I was a little apprehensive at first to commit to being in the pageant, but I am very glad that I was talked into it. I had a stinking awesome time with the guys and I am really excited about what Habitat for Humanity is all about," said Joshua Reid.

The Mr. Bruin pageant was a benefit for the Newberg Habitat for Humanity. Twelve guys raised money for Habitat and entertained the audience during the pageant. The participants did a talent competition, formal wear, casual wear, and a very entertaining opening dance.

Peter Smart was crowned Mr. Bruin 1998 after being selected by a panel of judges. "For me, the most rewarding part of the pageant was not only having a great time getting to know new guys, but we also Inspired by the blockbuster, "Titanic," George Fox's Spring Formal was built around the theme, "The Heart of the Ocean" and was elaborately coordinated to include both ballroom and Irish dancing, passports, and the corresponding romance. Held on "The Spirit of Portland," students sailed down the Willamette River during the evening. Some controversy surrounded the event, however. The size of the boat limited the number of participants and caused some uproar among students. The activities committee was quick to point out that their were far more people interested in the dance this year than in the past and they were unable to have predicted such a demand for tickets. "It was ironic that we were all on a boat under a theme that emulated a disaster that occurred because of overcrowding and here we were dancing and having a great time on a little, overcrowded boat. But, I didn't want to miss the social event of the century," said Micah Moss.

This is where it happens. This is where every senior is pushed off the security of the college diving board into the pool of the world and forced to use all their lessons to swim to shore.

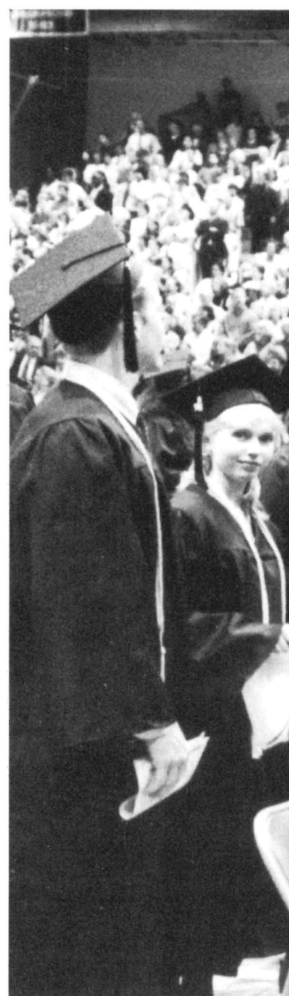

The one hundred and sixth Undergraduate Commencement was full of built-up anticipation as seniors sat nervously in their metal folding chairs, fumbling with their programs, unable to concentrate on anything except the back of the student's head in front of them. This is it. This is where countless hours of studying, research and reading were leading me. This is where all the money I earned working Physical Plant went. This one piece of paper. This is what I have to show for all my hard work. Will it be enough?

President of the American Bible Society and former dean of students at George Fox, Eugene Habecker, gave a speech entitled "Moving Out, Moving On" to this, the largest graduating class in the University's history. Reverend Sam Sherrard spoke at the baccalaureate service held the afternoon prior to commencement.

MEN'S JUST KICKIN' IT SOCCER

The Bruins recorded their 12th consecutive winning season, but a 5-1 loss to Seattle Pacific University brought them one win shy of extending their string of nine first or second place finishes in conference. However, the George Fox men's soccer team ended the season with an overall record of 12-6-1 and a record of 9-6-1 in the Northwest Conference of Independent Colleges. Senior contributors Greg Shaffer and Travis Johnson, both forwards, enjoyed their final season with the Bruins. Commenting on the crowds at various games, Shaffer said, "They were rowdy but they showed they cared and that they had school spirit by supporting the soccer team." The season was positively marked by the Bruins' eighth shut out against traditional rival Linfield. The men beat Linfield 2-0. The team was dominantly comprised of upperclassmen in their third and fourth season with the Bruin soccer team.

Overall, I have truly enjoyed my four years playing here. Those years have stretched me in areas far beyond just the soccer arena and made me look at life in a whole new way.

WOMEN'S SOCCER

DETERMINED WOMEN HAVE TEAM UNITY

The women's soccer team began the season with a focus that was carried throughout. The team made specific goals that they wanted to have accomplished by the end of the season. One of the goals was to make it to the conference playoffs. Disappointing as it was, the team didn't make it, however, they met many of their other goals due to teamwork and determination. Senior Heidi Hughes said, "We worked hard and skill wise it was there. It was almost like we were unlucky for not going further." As a team they achieved seven shutouts and improved their overall record. Senior Kara Erickson was named to the First Team of the NAIA Conference and junior Katrina Crabb was given honorable mention.

The team voted senior Staci Morris Most Valuable Player and head coach Byron Shenk said, "She started every game for four years--she should have been on the All-Conference team."

For the Lady Bruins, the 1997 season was a fantastic year. The team completed the season with its best winning percentage since 1980. With its 14th consecutive NAIA post-season appearance, the Lady Bruins proved to be a powerful force at the tournament.

Three team members received individual awards from the Northwest Conference. Sharon Barnett was voted first team, with Michelle Harper being named second team as well as Beth Davis who received honorable mention. Commenting on the season, coach Steve Grant said, "I would say this is the best team I know of that has ever played at George Fox...I think some of the reasons for our success were a solid level of dedication by all team members and a high level of goal setting at the beginning of the season. And we also had strong leadership both on the court and in spiritual areas."

Defensive specialists Rachel Evans and Janette Monckton prepare to return the opponent's serve. The defensive positions provided a solid support for the successful team.

GREAT MEMORIES DESPITE DISAPPOINTING SEASON

Cross country is a grueling sport filled with quiet frustrations and self motivation. Team unity can often times be difficult to achieve. The men's team did not meet some of the goals they had hoped for but they made friendships they never thought they would. "We had a few bumps along the way, but we really came together as a team and were very tight," said Eric Thompson

The team finished an overall fourth in the NCIC championship meet ran at Champoeg State Park.

Sophomore Brandon Workman was the team's first finisher, coming in seventh overall with a final time of 26:18. Workman's time earned him a chance to run in the NAIA championships in Kenosha, WI.

Sophomore John Mantalas and junior Scott Edinger both ran personal bests of 27:05 and 27:46 respectively.

"We all did really well, especially towards the end of the season," said Edinger.

Thompson reflected, "This is a group of classy guys. I thank God that He has let me be part of the team."

With no one to pressure him, Aaron Haynes runs ahead of a distance pack of runners.

Donovan Huffman finishes the race at Champoeg State Park. Huffman transferred to George Fox from Utah State in the fall.

CROSS COUNTRY

YOUNG TEAM MISSES RANKING BY TWO POINTS

The Lady Bruins started with almost a completely new team this year under the leadership of veteran coach Wes Cook and team captains Rebekah Ulmer and Rima Butler. Tough competition again this year stopped them from getting in the NAIA Top 25 Rank- they were 2 points shy.

The team's new runners worked hard to improve themselves and the team as a whole.

"I was pleased with my progress as an individual and I am proud of the efforts made by the other girls as well," said Melody McCart.

McCart raced her way to number 22 in the ranks of the 25 fastest women runners in George Fox history.

Team captains Rebekah Ulmer had the Lady Bruin's best time at 19:03.02 and Rima Butler set her best time at 19:35.6.

Heather Peterson qualified for NAIA All-American Scholar-Athlete recognition. She was the third female from George Fox to qualify this season for the award.

This season was awesome. Although we had some setbacks, we were successful. The friendships that I have made on this team, and the lessons that I have learned are so valuable. I look forward to next years jump rope "routine." What a super way to be introduced into George Fox!!!

BASKETBALL

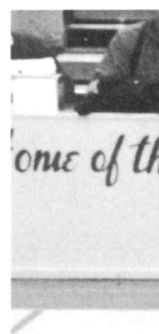

MORE SUCCESS IS IN OUR FUTURE

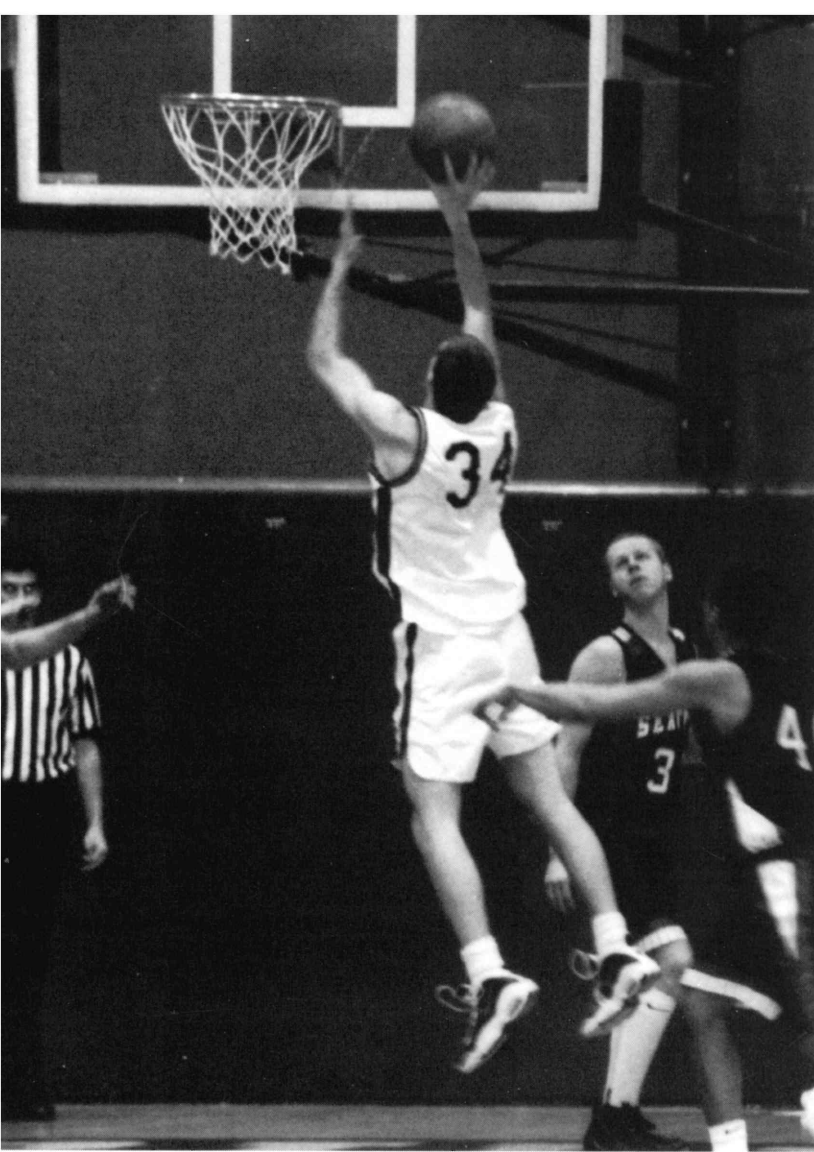

The 1997-98 year was chalked full of difficulties for the Bruins, but the team gained tremendous experience and always faced their challenges with fierce determination to be the best. With an overall record of 15 wins and 9 losses, the Bruins came away with a 22 place ranking in the league. "I've never participated on a team that was as much fun to play with as this one, we were blessed with success. Hopefully, with the return of the entire team next year, more success is in our future," said an optimistic Jared Valentine.

The guys were very supportive of each other and built solid long-lasting friendships. Tim Buechsel's most memorable part of the team was "definitely all of the friendships with the dudes." With the majority of the team returning in the fall, Kyle Valentine hopes that the knowledge gained by the team will help them "bring back a championship banner to hang in the gym."

I've never participated on a team that was as much fun to play with as this one.

The best thing about our team was that we had fun. We all got along and had respect for each other. We were also very supportive of each other no matter what happened.

Imagine all the people... observing this act of support. Rachel Powell and Tabitha Dawson look to help their fellow teammate. It was at this moment that the team spirit and support really shined.

Ready to rebound, Rachel Powell, Melissa Heuberger, and Tonya Miller eagerly await the chance to gain possession of the ball.

Surrounded by defenders, sophomore post Katie Greller takes it to the basket. "It's satisfying to find creative ways to throw down 2 or 3 points with someone in your face," said Greller.

GIRLS' TEAM GAINS WINS AND MEMORIES

This was a great year for the Lady Bruins overall. Of course like anything they had their ups and downs. "It was disappointing at the end to lose three games in a row but given the young team I think we were successful," said senior Cherish Carroll.

However, throughout the season there were events and highlights that created fond memories about the season and the team. Throughout the team, the popular memory was the win against PLU.

"I think my favorite game was when we beat PLU at home in overtime," said senior Nancy Rissmiller. They had beaten Fox the previous year. Besides this popular memory there were others that were and continue to be remembered.

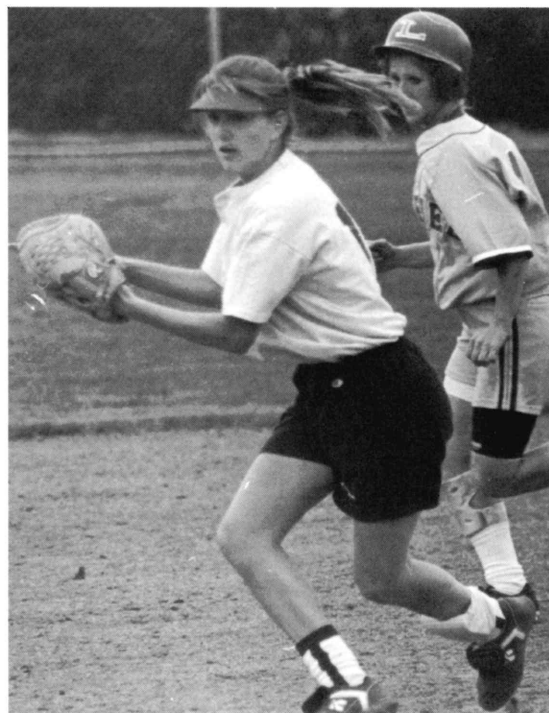

"My greatest memory is watching Hyperburger cash a backwards halfcourt shot to let us play cartoon tag in practice that day," reflected sophomore Katie Greller. Basketball, and any sport for that matter, requires a willingness to play as a team since it is not an independent sport. There are others who are working with you. Everyone on the team strives together to reach the same goal. The Lady Bruins really accomplished this. They went above and beyond what a team should look like. In relating with each other they demonstrated Christ's love. They remembered that sometimes there are losses but to always look on the brighter side. Most importantly, they showed through their athletic ability and sport that there is no I in team.

Senior Mary Butts returns home after an unsuccessful attempt at bat. Butts and teammate Allison Vaubel were the only two seniors on the softball team.

Beth Kellogg looks to throw a player out as she runs toward third base. Kellogg, a sophomore, played the shortstop position.

YOUNG TEAM FIGHTS HARD

The George Fox softball team was well-rehearsed at enduring hardships.

The 1998 roster was significantly diminished from the previous year. The team lost 13 players, but gained six tough freshmen. It was a fairly young team comprised of only three upperclassmen. The nine returning player core is made up of six die-hard sophomores. The Lady Bruins ended the grueling season 14-21-2 overall and 7-12-1 in the Northwest Conference. They placed sixth in the NCIC and therefore did not making it to the playoffs.

Agonizing defeat hurts, but the team remains hopeful that their time will come for a place in the playoffs.

The future looks bright for George Fox softball. The team worked well together, on and off the field, a true team.

With a look of intensity, sophomore Beth Davis hurls the ball from the pitcher's mound. Davis was one of two pitchers on the team.

Travis Tobin, a junior, keeps his eyes and mit open during a home game. Tobin was one of the right-handed pitchers on the team.

Pitcher and third baseman Ryan LeBreton rounds third base and heads home during a game at Morse Athletic Field. LeBreton was a junior.

DEPTH OF TEAM MADE FOR SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Unrecognizable in uniform, a six-foot, two hundred pound man strides to the plate taking with him his weapon of choice: an aluminum bat. Crouching in the batter's box, patiently waiting for his pitch - fastball, low and outside. Hurlled from the mound, he rips it up the middle and beats the throw to first. The die-hard fans cheer wildly. Such is a George Fox baseball game.

The team had plenty of talent, with fifteen pitchers on its roster. This plethora of skilled players made for some serious competition among the players.

"When you have depth as we did, it pushes everyone (positively) for time and innings. Only one guy could be out there at a time and it was kind of a dog fight to be the one who was out there," said sophomore pitcher Eric Beasley. Third Baseman Ryan Le Breton and pitcher Nate Fast were selected as NAIA All-American Scholar-Athletes.

Commenting on Fast's skills, Beasley said, "He throws strikes, changes speeds, and changes locations. He's a gambler, in that he will challenge anybody even though his fastball tops out at about 81 mph."

Catcher Mark Tyler was named an NAIA Honorable Mention All-American athlete. Tyler tied the George Fox doubles record with 20 this season.

MEN'S TRACK

DISAPPOINTED BUT UNDAUNTED

The Men's Track & Field team were discouraged by their non-scoring performance at the NAIA Championship but were not deterred from having positive attitudes. Brandon Workman finished ninth in the steeplechase finals, the highest finishing individual for the team. Ty Taylor finished tenth in the javelin. Scott Edinger and David Parker both ran in the 400-meter prelims; Edinger advanced to the semi-finals with a time of 55.17.4. Team captain Lucas Ankeny said,

"We are a very talented team. At the beginning of the season, we were struggling to understand how to be a part of a team. We learned how to put our attitudes and selfish desires behind us. I feel we have all worked hard at buying into the team concept and have formed a great community." The men became not only teammates but friends. A real respect and admiration for one another was apparent in their actions and positive comments regarding those they competed with.

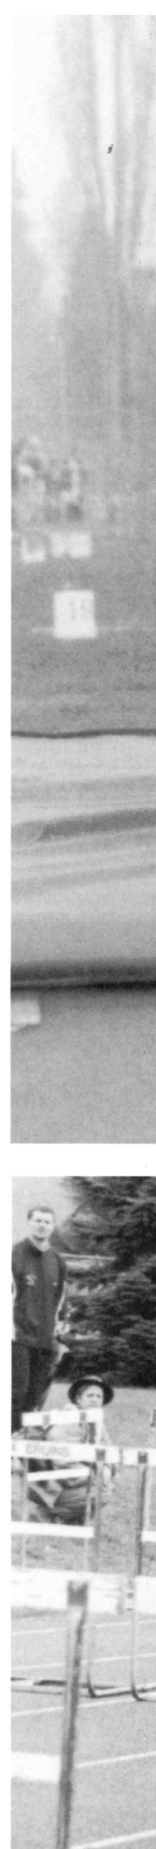

"Not only are my teammates great athletes, but they're great people too. If you ever need a good Christian to talk to, they're right there for you," reflected Eric Costa. "Running with the distance teams (middle and long), I realized just how good guys like Brandon Workman, Bryan Thompson, and John Mantalas really are," said Daron Hernandez. Bryan Thompson commented, "The strong friendships, excellent performances, and tons of fun, fun, fun made it a season I'll never forget!"

Showing endurance as he maintains his position within a pack of runners, John Mantalas competes in a distance race at George Fox.

Brennan Koch gives all he's got in order to propel himself in the air during the long jump competition. This was Koch's second year on the team.

"This season is going to be great for everybody on the team. When everyone is competing uninjured, we really set the track and field on fire."

WOMEN'S TRACK

STILL GOING STRONG

Once again the Lady Bruins maintained their position as one of the nation's top 25 teams. For the eleventh consecutive year, the women have scored points at the NAIA Track and Field Championship.

Nancy Rissmiller, ten time All-American in her collegiate career and national defending champion in the high jump, finished third in that event. Though she jumped 5-7, the same height as the winner, she used more attempts.

Rissmiller, a senior, was named

George Fox's 1998 All-Sports Female Athlete of the Year.

Sharon Barnett finished seventh in the 100-meter hurdles with a time of 14.90.

"I am excited at how all the newcomers and youngsters have fit into the team. We have had some hard times and learning experiences, but that is to be expected when a "family" holds itself to high standards," stated Barnett.

Echoing Barnett, distance runner Marisa Merritt said, "The track team is my family. I cannot imagine spending these months at George Fox without that core group of people. My college experience would be a very different one."

Winning wasn't the only memory made.

"My fondest memory was probably the Spring Fling trip. It was incredible.

We had awesome times of worship and one particular night, the power went out and we had two and a half hours of worship and confession time. It was truly God and truly incredible," reflected Barnett.

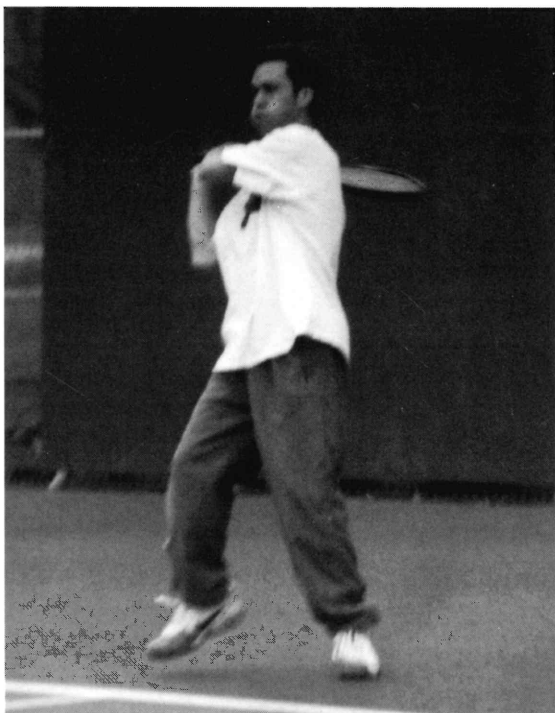

Second year track and field team member, Karrie Kiester, bounds over a hurdle just behind a Pacific Lutheran University competitor.

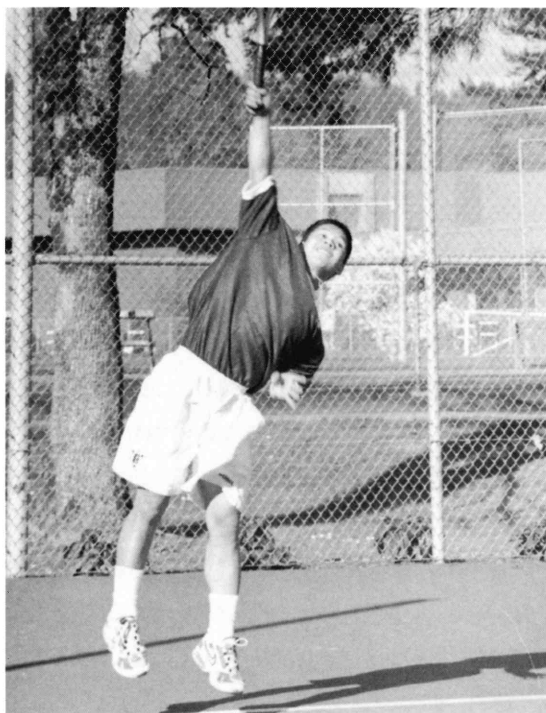

Rima Butler, the team's senior distance runner, stays relaxed as she finishes the second lap of the race. Butler was a member of the 4x800 meter relay team.

Senior Rob Cruz finishes a back hand shot during practice at George Fox. "The team has a new attitude and believes it can win against anyone," said Cruz.

During a home court match, Thong Nguyen performs a powerful serve. Nguyen was one of three freshman to join the men's team.

MEN'S TENNIS

MAKING SOME NOISE

Sincere optimism and honest effort propelled the Men's Tennis team to a winning season, the first in two years. With four returning players and three freshman, the men created a balance unprecedented by past years. They set out to surprise opposing teams and succeeded in surprising themselves as well.

"The season went better than expected thanks to the hard work of the individuals on the team and the new coach who has done a great job in his first year," said sophomore Todd Hammans.

"With strong unity and added depth and talent, this year's team has been very enjoyable to be on," said senior Rick Cruz.

A feeling of camaraderie developed between the members of the team due in part to the unity of the Cruz brothers: Robert, Rick and Ryan.

Newcomer Josh Kaiser reflected, "As far as teamwork goes, I think everyone on the team gets along and has fun playing and practicing together. This in itself gives us an advantage over teams who have a similar skill level but who aren't team-oriented."

"In summary, the team went from not winning a match in two years to a winning season, and if we continue to improve who knows what we are capable of doing."
 -Todd Hammans

Keeping his eye on the ball, Rick Cruz finishes a serve. Cruz stated, "With our added depth this year, it has brought confidence to the team."

Freshman Jill McCulloch finishes a forehand shot during a casual time of practice. McCulloch was one of only two freshman on this year's team.

S taying low and watching the ball, Wendy Mueller prepares for a return shot during practice. "I think that, as a team, we have improved a lot this year," said Mueller.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

THE YEAR OF IMPROVEMENT

Continued improvement through dedicated practice and undaunted teamwork was the anthem proclaimed throughout the year by the Women's Tennis team. Each member of the team had a moment of superior skill showcased during a meet and each felt the team was bound for a level higher than that already achieved. "It's been a year of improvement for all of us. The win over Portland State University was probably the highlight of a long season," said Sarah Johnson. The team recognized the efforts put forth by each individual and saw this as a powerful quality of their relationship. "Everyone has worked really hard this year," said Shawna Hughes. All of this improvement was ultimately in hopes of defeating their powerful opponents. "Our record has been improving each year since the program was reinstated. If we pull together and work as a team, we can really put a lot of teams to the test," said Wendy Mueller.

Pushed to the back court, Rachel McComb returns a long shot to her opponent during pre-match warm-ups. This was McComb's second year on the team.

CHEERLEADERS THE MISSING LINKS HOSTS-PEP BAND

Imagine entering a gymnasium full of people sitting quietly in the bleachers, staring blankly toward the court, unaware of who is playing or why they are even there. This is roughly the scene of a game if some of the intricate players were missing.

Of course, I'm talking about the crowd-pumpers, audience informers. The Cheerleaders that channeled the energy into united enthusiasm. The Pep Band that created the back drop for excitement. And the Hosts that kept all of this frenzy into some sort of order.

"The hosts were supposed to be the face of George Fox. We were the PR people who tried their best to make people feel welcome," said host Micah Moss.

Not always the most rewarding of jobs, all three groups found their time in the gymnasium just as rewarding as those who played on the court.

Tiffany Currier said, "I know the basketball players really appreciated us and what we were trying to do. They would always come over and thank us after the game. The cheering that much more rewarding."

All of these groups are comprised of volunteers who felt a need to harness some of their own enthusiasm for varsity sports into a role they felt qualified to fill.

INTRAMURALS

A COMBINATION OF FUN AND COMPETITION

Just a little friendly competition. Or was it?

Athletic opportunities were not restricted to varsity sports at George Fox.

Students were given the chance to participate in a wide variety of intramural sports offered throughout the year. Such sports included flag football, indoor soccer, basketball, volleyball, and floor hockey.

The intramural program gave an opportunity for fun and fierce competition to intermingle. Most who participated took intramurals rather serious and put forth just as much if not more energy into the games as they would a varsity sport.

Each sport was set up into leagues and each team played the others within their league.

Ken Littlefield's team beat Snowbeat and the Fat Boys in football 14 to 7 and Josh Cogar, Coby Van der Meer and Chris Frye beat Rob Reck's team in 3 on 3 basketball.

The wide variety of games were made possible through the intramurals committee and their advisor, Manfred Tschan.

It's fun to see all the students that are not involved in varsity sports, come out and compete against each other and have fun.

- Michelle Harper

Beating his competition to the basket, Justin Ubel goes up for the shot. 3 on 3 basketball was one of the more popular intramural sports.

Working at getting past his persistent opponent, Brian Wilson, Steve Lewis charges to the hoop in an attempt to score.

Using some fancy footwork, Lon Osborn attempts to stop his opponent from advancing to the goal during an indoor soccer game.

How Sweet The Sound

With the Concert Choir, Festival Chorus, Chamber Singers, and Bel Canto Singers, George Fox was flooded with opportunities to perform vocal music.

"I like singing the classical stuff. It makes me feel like I'm worshipping God. Someone even told me we sounded like angels," said Nicole Hood, a member of the Bel Canto Singers, the women's choir.

The Bel Canto Singers and the Chamber Singers were both directed by John Bowman. Derric Johnson directed the University Concert Choir. "I grew really attached to my pitch pipe. I would take it home and care for it," said Concert Choir member Jeremy Kramer. In the Spring, the Festival Chorus along with the Chehalem Symphony performed Handel's "Messiah." Soloists included George Fox's Michael Hampton, Emily Rice, Kelli Barlow, Bethany Wheatcraft, and Aaron Liljenberg.

Going Instrumental

The various instrumental ensembles open to students provided an avenue of expression that, though time consuming and often emotionally straining, still drew hundreds of participants. "I remember playing the flute in the sixth grade. I never thought that I would still be in band. Why am I still in band? It's an anomaly that I'm still in it," reflected concert band flutist Nicole Hood. Members of the Concert Band toured Eastern Oregon and Idaho during their Spring Tour. "When we got to Idaho, there was a banner that read, 'Welcome George Fox Symphony.' We have no string instruments. We are not a symphony but the banner is still hanging in our band room," said flutist and Concert Band Student Chaplain Eileen McCreith. "I'll remember Dr. Hagan coming over the microphone telling us about the snow geese every, oh, half hour or so," said Hood.

The Power, The Drama

George Fox University students presented two powerful plays during the year: "The Cocktail Party" by T.S. Eliot and "All's Well That Ends Well" by William Shakespeare. "The Cocktail Party" told the story of The Chamberlaynes' (Ian Heimbegner and Rachel Dressler) failing marriage and the choices that they and their friends were forced to make regarding their indiscretions. "I chose (the play) because I resonate with the relationships: Who of us hasn't had a love go smash, been misunderstood or unloved, felt alone in the midst of people? I chose it because behind the intellectual puzzle that has intrigued me through the years lies the spiritual journey. We who enact it for you found the journey worth it," reflected professor Jo. H. Lewis. "All's Well That Ends Well," a dark comedy about the cunning of a woman, was professor Lewis' final production at George Fox University.

The Sound Of Music

The music of Rodgers and Hammerstein's musical tribute to the von Trapp family was brought to Bauman Auditorium in "The Sound of Music." The Theatre Arts department invited Ted Desel to be a guest director on their musical production. "It is always fun to work with an unfamiliar director because you're no longer working inside the framework and directing/acting style you are accustomed to," said Josh Smith who played Herr Zeller. The audience's familiarity with "The Sound of Music" made it a challenge for the actors/musicians. "I think almost everyone has watched the movie and everyone has sung the songs. It was fun reliving others' memories of this show," said Heather Dunkin. Dunkin played Mother Abbess. Joe Thouvenel who played Rolf commented, "It was a cool opportunity to be a part of a play that everyone knows so well. But it can be challenging too. It was fun to be able to add unique qualities to characters that so many people have grown up with. And the kissing thing isn't bad either."

Elsa (Shannon Killeen) and Captain von Trapp (Marshall Pickens) listen as Max (Brandon Thornburg) convinces them to let the children sing.

The Best Part of DaySpring

"I decided to audition on a whim, but I had always had a desire to be in DaySpring. Ever since I came in as a freshman and my roommate was a part of the group. I heard about the friendships and the ministry opportunities and I knew that it was something special," said reflected senior Christine Barnett.

DaySpring provided a springboard for students interested in a career in music performance.

Director Derric Johnson was a tremendous influence on his pupils.

Angela Raske said, "I thank God for the opportunity to sing with these folks and work with Derric Johnson. I look forward to working with him with Voices of Liberty at Epcot Walt Disney World."

The members of DaySpring not only gained fond memories from the ministry they provided but also from the students with whom they performed.

"You become so close with eight other people that they become like a second family to you. Being an only child, I really consider these people as my brothers and sisters," said Matthew Magee.

The Power of The Players

"Imagine a group of people who want nothing more than to encourage, teach, learn, from, share with, and grow with each other. A group of actors that with their hilarious accents and funny characters make even a routine ride in the car a life-long memory. A group that you can come to with your total self and it's OK to be different. A group that comes together with the pure intention of being used by God and love it. A group like that would be called the University Players." - Jeremy Schlott.

"I can't think of anything else at Fox that has held as many treasured memories as Players has for me. I thank the Lord for such an amazing opportunity to be a part of His ministry in this group. God has humbled me as I have watched Him use a weak, struggling person as myself to help minister His mighty Word through Players." - Heidi Oester

"Even when I am eighty years old, the laughter will still be ringing in my ears (perhaps even literally) as I pass on the legacy of the University Players to my grandchildren. Players will live on forever." -Wade Neiwert

"One of my most treasured memories was at our retreat. We barely knew each other but the children inside of us came out as we ran down the beach with Irish accents searching for the "higher ground me laddies." -Rebekah Crover.

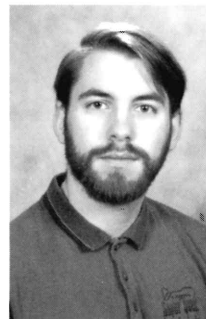

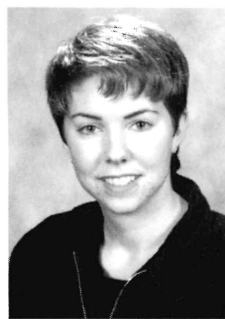

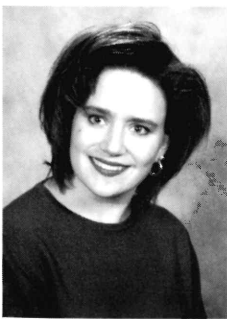

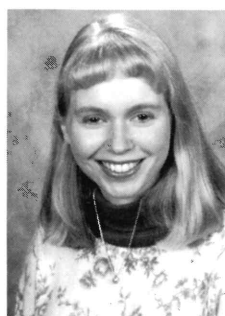

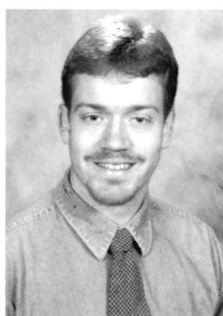

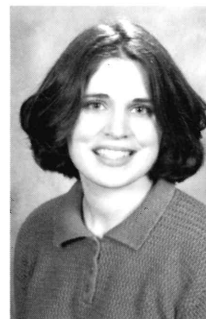

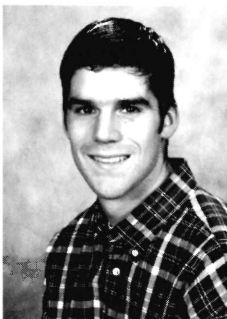

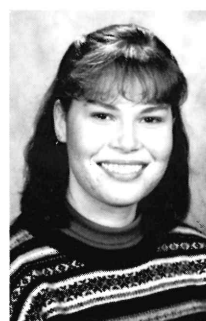

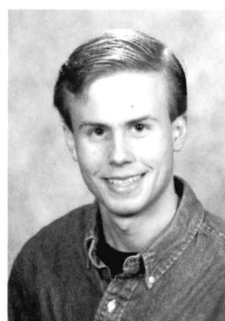

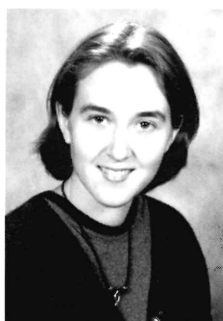

What more can be said?

The day is filled with faces: friends, familiar smiles, acquaintances, unknowns. Faces we'll call when life brings a change.
Faces we'll forget exist. Who shares these walls, these classrooms? Those we laugh with in Marriott and those that laugh at us mingling in this atmosphere of unity.
These are what memories are made of.

In The News...

Britain and the world bid farewell to Diana, Princess of Wales, on a sparkling September morning with a grand tribute rich in pageantry. Since her death in a car crash in Paris a week before, the country had witnessed an astonishing outpouring of grief that forced a repentant monarchy to join in the kind of full celebration of Diana's life that the millions of people who flooded into London demanded.

IN THE NEWS...

Country star Tim McGraw, whose last two albums -- "Not a Moment Too Soon" and "All I Want"-- sold a combined 7 million copies, built his career on a heartbreak ballad. In the two years since "All I Want" hit the charts, McGraw became a millionaire, married country music's Faith Hill, had a daughter and gained respect as a producer. His fourth album, "Everywhere", reflects these changes in his life. The hit album chronicles a man in transition.

IN THE NEWS.

The WNBA -- Women's National Basketball Association -- completed its inaugural season with the Houston Comets defeating the New York Liberty for the championship. As the season closed, the WNBA announced that two new teams would be added in 1998. If it all works out, the Comets will go to the Western Conference with Los Angeles, Phoenix, Sacramento and Utah. The new teams, Detroit and Washington, D.C., will join the East with Charlotte, Cleveland and New York.

N THE NEWS...

The roving vehicle Sojourner, the first mobile explorer to land on another planet, landed on Mars in 1997 and gathered soil and rocks. Overcoming communication trouble and other setbacks, the Sojourner left the Mars Pathfinder landing craft. The robotic rover's six metal wheels rolled down a ramp onto the surface. The Sojourner, which was about the size of a microwave oven, crawled around the surface of Mars, transmitting information back on Earth.

IN THE NEWS...

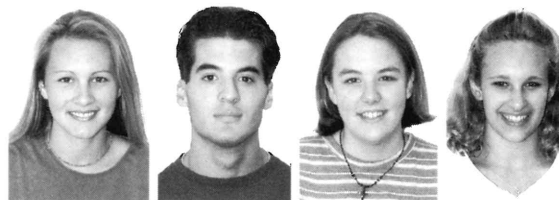

The 11,000 residents of the Caribbean island of Montserrat witnessed first hand the devastation that a very active volcano can cause. The volcano belched ash and small rocks over several days in September and forced more than two thirds of the population to evacuate the island. A shortage of housing was one of the biggest problems, especially for those evacuating the central communities of the island. The volcano on the British protectorate island became active two years ago, and the latest eruptions caused most the population to flee to Britain or other Caribbean islands.

Despite comparisons with earlier groups like Menudo and New Kids on the Block, the Spice Girls have jumped into superstardom, grabbing the adoration that comes with overnight fame. With only one album to their credit, the five young women took the world by storm with their saucy antics and innumerable shouts of "Girl Power."

Chelsea Clinton went off to college some 3,000 miles from home. The 18-year old National Scholarship finalist accepted an offer from Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif. Choosing this palm-studded campus 30 miles south of San Francisco was a bit of a bold stroke for the first daughter. Her Secret Service detail will try their best to make her stay as normal as possible.

IN THE NEWS..

The Dave Matthews Band has demonstrated over the course of three albums and years of extensive touring that it has staying power on the charts. Dave Matthews was born in Johannesburg, South Africa, and moved to Virginia 10 years ago. He formed the group in 1990. They had intended to come up with a "proper" name, but the name stuck before they had time to change it.

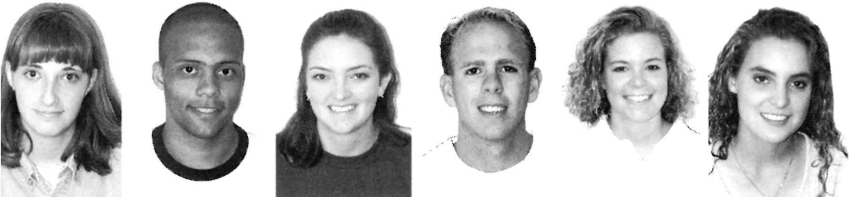

Yasser Arafat was chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization and president of the Palestinian National Authority. He was one of the key leaders in trying to maintain peace in the Middle East. His 1993 handshake of peace with Yitzhak Rabin promised mutual recognition between the Palestinians and the state of Israel. Under the agreement, Arafat assumed leadership of Arabs within Israel's occupied territories.

IN THE NEWS...

Mother Teresa was among the most well-known and highly respected women in the world in the twentieth century. In 1948 she founded a religious order of Roman Catholic nuns in Calcutta, India, called the Missionaries of Charity. Through this order, she dedicated her life to helping the poor, the sick and the dying around the world, particularly those in India. Her selfless work with the needy brought her much acclaim and many awards, including the Nobel Peace Prize in 1979. She died at the age of 87 on September 5, 1997 of heart failure at her convent in Calcutta.

IN THE NEWS.

President Bill Clinton was the first Democratic president in 60 years to be elected to a second term. Under his presidency, the United States enjoyed the lowest rate of inflation since the early 1960's, and he was the first president in 17 years to submit a balanced budget to Congress. However, a year after his re-election, Clinton was under close scrutiny for campaign finance violations and alleged affairs.

Jewel began writing songs when she was 17. Now, at 23, she's a star. She was raised in Alaska where she began performing at the age of five. Her junior and senior years in high school were spent at the Interlochen Fine Arts Academy in Michigan. She then went to San Diego, which she now calls home. However, Jewel makes a point of maintaining a solid connection to her roots in Homer, Alaska -- she carries a container of genuine Alaska dirt wherever she travels.

The first component of the Mir space station was launched in 1986. And except for two brief gaps, the space station has been manned continuously ever since. It has made more than 60,000 trips around Earth. In 1994, the U.S. and Russia agreed to conduct joint missions aboard the station. These missions are the phase of a program to build an International Space Station. This station is scheduled to be in orbit by the year 2002.

The day has come to an end.

How did you do?

Dedicated to the Memory of
Dr. Edward F. Stevens
September 7, 1940 - May 21, 1998

“And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, who have been called according to his purpose.”
Romans 8:28

A Day in the Life...

Not an extremely catchy yearbook theme, a little trite even, but the staff and I felt that it successfully captured the diversity of the students on the George Fox campus. Each of you have different roles that you play in the daily workings of this university. It is the responsibility of the yearbook to capture all these roles and compile them into one hard-bound memory that can be brought out and conjured up at your leisure. I hope we succeeded.

Now for the specifics. There are some extraordinary people that really made my job much easier.

To my Assistant Editor and friend, Celeste Shults, I say thank you for everything. Though I know you feel your help was insignificant, I have to tell you that I couldn't have finished this book without you. Thanks for keeping the staff entertained and excited about what we were doing. Your faith in my ability kept me a float. "Sometimes I dream of a revolution...."

Amy Wharfield, next year's Editor, thank you for your dedication in May and your input into the books design. I'm confident that your talent will shine next year. Good luck!

To Deanna Cintas and Amanda Johnson, my army of a staff, I'd like to say thank you for stepping up and taking care of your projects and doing it all with smiles on your faces. It was great working with you.

A special thank you goes out to our Herff Jones representative, Annette Johnson, for always being there when we had a question and for seeming to have just the right advice when we needed it. No navy blue for us.

Thank you Cary Wadlow for having so much confidence in me. I appreciated the freedom you gave me and your interest in bettering the yearbook in the future.

An emphatic thank you to Andrea Adamson and the Darkroom staff for working so hard to provide photos for us. I know we kept you busy. A special thank you to Carley Egelston for developing our pictures during May.

To all of you that received annoying email messages about your activities, thank you for replying so quickly.

To Mr. Ron Barnett, who taught me everything I know about this yearbook stuff, I say thank you for inspiring me to stick with it.

To the rest of you out there wondering if your name will appear within these lines, I thank you for opening my eyes to the endless possibilities here at George Fox University.

Enjoy the book as much as I have enjoyed working on it.

In Him - Corrie

COLOPHON

Volume 64 of the George Fox University Yearbook, the 1997-98 L'Ami, was printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Logan, Utah.

The Cover is quarter bound with Maroon Vibra Tex 41009 and painted with Navy #9. Endsheets stock is Fibertext Navajo RT5 with Navy ink HJ 281. Paper stock for the book is 100 pound Bordeaux.

Typefaces used in the book include Graphite Light, Futurist, Courier, Hobo, Bodoni Mt Ultra Bold, and Palatino.

Photos for the book were provided by Andrea Adamson and the ASC Darkroom staff. Anita Cirulis in the GFU Public Relations Office provided the team photos. Senior pictures were taken by Columbia Photographic Service of Clackamas, Oregon. Undergraduate pictures taken by Michael Slivkoff.

Cover and logo were designed by Andrew Hansen. The Activities layout was designed by Amy Wharfield. All other layouts were the cumulative effort of the yearbook staff.

The 1997-98 L'Ami had a press run of 1000 copies. Distribution began in September 1998.
